MTB Project Trail Comments

 Dakota Springs trails are directional so please ride counterclockwise.

Dust 2 Connector

This singletrack connector trail connects Dakota Springs to Yamaguchi Park. The Dakota Springs Trail System is located behind Pagosa Springs High School.

Flow My Mind

This is a fun flow trail using the natural terrain in the area. For full flow, start at School of Rock. The trail can also be accessed from the north side of the Super D loop. Flow My Mind ends back on Super D where you can continue counterclockwise to finish out the loop.

School of Rock

This trail features a rock garden start and progressive rollers to berms to finish. Then it transitions in the Flow My Mind trail which you can take back to the trailhead.

Super D

This is the beginner outer loop in the Dakota Springs trail system. It features a nice, steady climb to the top, then a cut across the top through cool slickrock sections. On the second half of the trail, riders will descend through another slickrock shelf onto a flowy stretch that takes you back to the trailhead. Enjoy the view of the South San Juan Range at the top of the loop.
