

MEOW WOLF House of Eternal Return presents audiences with a maximalist experience that is part mystery house, part art museum, part jungle gym and part choose your own adventure, all wrapped up in a fantastical explorable world suspended in time and space.

Game of Thrones creator George R.R. Martin purchased a long-vacant bowling alley in Santa Fe's emerging Midtown Innovation District to help bring House of Eternal Return to life.

Meow Wolf transformed the bowling alley into one of the most talked about experiences in the world: a 20,000 square foot, award-winning, interactive art experience "like nothing you've ever seen before."

"Pee-Wee's Playhouse on steroids."

● NPR

"The amusement park for people who want a weirder Disneyland."

● ARS TECHNICA

"Part haunted house and part jungle gym—giant artwork that people can step inside."

● THE LA TIMES

Meow Wolf has done it again!

Things are always changing at House of Eternal Return. February 2018 additions include new installations, new murals, new narrative content, new programming, a new cafe and bar, and a new inter-dimensional portal to explore!

HOUSE OF ETERNAL RETURN

is an immersive art experience featuring a wild new form of storytelling that unfolds through exploration, discovery and interactivity. Visitors choose their own pathways by walking, climbing and crawling through an imaginative multiverse of more than 70 unique rooms created by a team of over 200 artists. The experience is for people of all ages as it provides children with a fantastic world to play within and teens through adults with a uniquely sophisticated artistic experience with narrative depth. The exhibition is also home to a free-play arcade and a venue space that hosts evening music shows and performances.

If you build an appetite exploring House of Eternal Return, visit FLOAT: the new cafe & bar in our lobby. FLOAT serves one-of-a-kind Meow Wolf-inspired beverages and provides down home Cajun cuisine from TRINITY KITCHEN, the Santa Fe favorite food truck that lives onsite.

The FANCY TOWN venue is the best music venue in Santa Fe and was noted as a Top 10 In The U.S. by Yelp!

The Meow Wolf GIFT SHOP offers a variety of wares from New Mexico artists as well as House of Eternal Return and other special Meow Wolf memorabilia.

Visit shop.meowwolf.com for gift giving on the go!

Meow Wolf is home to the LEARNING CENTER, which offers free open studio hours (11AM-4PM, everyday except Tuesday) and offers a variety of fun and creative workshops for all ages!
