CUTTER DAM RESERVOIR

General Information

Cutter Dam Reservoir is a little known body of water located about 8 miles south of Blanco, New Mexico and east of Largo Canyon. A picturesque little lake with beautiful cliffs and scenery it covers approximately 64 acres. The lake serves as a reservoir for Navajo Agricultural Products Industry (NAPI). Access to the lake is possible from two locations, however neither access is paved, so four wheel-drive, high clearance vehicle is highly recommended.

Activities

Small water craft and fishing.

Facilities

A shore boat access is available on the northwest side of the reservoir. However, access to this location is very rugged and limited to johnboats or small fishing boats. Accessing with a trailer may be problematic due to large road ruts.

Fees

No lake use fees required. A valid fishing license required from Navajo Nation Department of Fish and Wildlife.

Fishing

This lake is stocked with rainbow, brown and cutthroat trout, bullhead catfish and Kokanee salmon is also present.
